Burial mound

4.8.2 Burial mound

Reference:

Greek χειμών (cheimōn) SIR 21:8

Description and usage:

A pile of stones sometimes marks a burial site (© ניסים טבקה Pikiwiki Israel, CC BY 2.5, via Wikimedia Commons)The burial mound was a pile of stones placed over the place of burial. Its purpose was to mark the burial site and to prevent animals from digging up the body.

Translation:

Since the “burial mound” was just another kind of tomb, GNT has simply “tomb” in SIR 21:8. There is a textual variation in this verse. Some manuscripts have “for the winter” instead of “for his burial mound” (RSV). Most translations use a word for “tomb” and add a footnote giving the alternate reading (so GNT).
