Hebrew חֵמָה (chemah) JOB 29:6

Description:

Yogurt is a semisolid food created when milk has been curdled by bacteria.

Translation:

Translations of the Hebrew word chem'ah differ considerably. GNT ignores the souring process and translates it as "milk" in ISA 7:15, while NCV has "milk curds," which is probably not well understood by its target audience. CEV "yogurt" is better.
